The company, which has its own manufacturing facility, was founded in 2010 as an exclusive partner of the Japanese synthetic fibre and textile producer TORAY. Their premium-quality ECSAINE™ textile is an ultra-microfiber non-woven fabric with suede texture which is used to produce HASSED's beds and sofas. The material is not only soft to touch but also skin friendly as the OEKO-TEX® STANDARD 100 certification ensures that it was tested for harmful substances at all stages of production.

OEKO-TEX® enables consumers and companies to protect our planet by making responsible decisions. It offers companies of the textile and leather industry several certifications and services to have their products tested for harmful substances by independent institutes, and to optimize their production conditions and their supply chains with regard to sustainability. All OEKO-TEX® services offer independent certification, have international validity, and test criteria and limit values are in conformance with relevant current national and international regulations.
